

IEEE International Symposium on Electromagnetic Compatibility Technical / Engineering Patron Opportunities

Company Patron Opportunity: Employee Block Symposium Registration

As a 'Patron' opportunity, the 2008 IEEE International EMC Symposium has developed a way to maximize your company's participation in the technical and educational aspects of the IEEE International EMC Symposium without the cost of the social gatherings.

We encourage you to consider the new company 'Patron Registration' category that provides a significant reduction from the non-member fee when your company registers a minimum of 5 engineers, technicians or technical managers for the Symposium with a single purchase order or credit card action.

The 'Block Registration' Patron category provides access to all of the technical aspects of the Symposium:

- Tutorial Presentations
- Technical Workshops
- Special Technical Sessions
- Papers (both Oral and Open Forum)
- Demonstrations
- The EMC product exhibits show floor
- CD-ROM of Symposium Record & Workshop Notes
- Symposium 'Break' refreshments

Educational & Training Opportunities

- The IEEE International Symposium on Electromagnetic Compatibility provides five days of diverse training and exposure to current and emerging technologies, and a chance to learn from and exchange information with the most renowned experts in the field.

- A full week of training opportunities for less than $100 a day!
- The Symposium theme of "Mobile EMC" resonates strongly with the automotive industry. Many special technical aspects are planned for the Symposium to high light the automotive industry's involvement in EMC.
- Since none of the social events are included in this registration package your engineers, technicians and managers are able to concentrate their energies on gaining all the technical benefit from the Symposium experience.

Participation Levels

- The minimum level of 'Patron' participation in this category is 5 Technical Registrations for a total registration fee of $2,375. This provides access to the Symposium for 5 of your technical experts for an equivalent fee of only $475 per attendee. (This is below even the early registration cost for an IEEE member!)
- Registration of any number of attendees above the minimum level of 5 persons increases the Patron cost incrementally by $475 each.
- The normal fee for a late symposium registration of a non-IEEE member would be $775 each. You pay only $475 each. That's a savings of $300/attendee.

Participation in this Patron program may be arranged by contacting EMC 2008 Registration Manager Andrea Sadlowski at +1 732 562 5337 or emc08reg@ieee.org.

NOTE: This 'Patron Registration' opportunity is only being offered at the 2008 Symposium. Any continuation of this Patron Registration opportunity will be at the discretion of future Symposium Committees and the EMC Society Board of Directors. Registrations are not transferable and may not be canceled.
